

CONGRESS CRITICAL OF TROOPS PROPOSAL

About Town

And Country
By TIMOTHEUS T.

EASTER: An Easter Miracle is the title of an article in Sunshine Magazine for April, and I'm passing it on to you for our Easter story. This is it:

It was in the year 1799, when the armies of Napoleon were passing over the continent of Europe and conquering all that came their way. The sun shone brightly on the Rhine river, just within the borders of Austria. The Rhine flows into the Rhine.

Quite early on this morning there suddenly appeared on the heights above the town to the west the glittering weapons of eighteen thousand French soldiers, the division under the command of General Massena. There was a hasty assembling of the town council, and it was decided that a deputation be sent to Massena with the keys of the town and a petition for mercy.

In the midst of all the confusion, of the hurrying to and fro and the anxious consultation, the old dean of the church stood up serene as was the morning, with no thought of fear in his brave heart.

"It is Easter day," he said. "We have been reckoning on our own strength, and it is but weakness. Let us ring the bells and have service as usual. We will leave our troubles in the hands of the Higher Power."

Soon from all the church spires of Feldkirch the bells rang out joyously. The streets became thronged with worshippers on their way to church. Louder and more triumphant pealed the bells as they rang out the glad message, and the hills, putting on their new green, echoed the glad refrain.

The French army heard the sounds of rejoicing, and Massena concluded there could be but one reason for it. He was sure that the Austrian army had arrived in the night. He ordered his men to break up camp, and almost before the bells had ceased ringing—long before Easter services were over—the French army was in retreat.

By noon not a tent, not a soldier, not a glittering bayonet, was to be seen on the heights above Feldkirch.

Now, wasn't that a nice story for Easter? Here's something, also out of Sunshine Magazine, to wind up this column for the day:

"If you don't believe in God, you ain't a whole man," said Elder Johnson. "A lot of smart people claim they don't believe in nothing unless they can see it. Look, friend, you can't see electricity in that high-tension wire up yonder, but I dare you to touch it! No, you can't see electricity, but you can see the light!"

WCTU to Hold Spring Institute Here Wednesday

The Spring Institute of Women's Christian Temperance Union for Saline and adjoining counties will be held in the First Presbyterian church in Harrisburg, Wednesday, April 21, beginning at 9:30 a. m. The devotion will be given by Rev. C. C. Cummins, after which the business session will be held.

Mrs. Bernice Corwin, Belleville, will be in charge of discussions of the various departments.

The afternoon session will begin at 1:15 and open with the song, "The New Crusade," and with responsive reading and prayer. The song, "Battle Hymn of the WCTU," will be followed with the message at 1:45 by the science class of the Harrisburg High school.

The address will be given by Mrs. Bessie Barlette, Greenville, state president of the WCTU.

There will be a recruit demonstration, and mothers with babies are urged to be present at 2:30 p. m. for the recruit meeting. All members are expected to attend and visitors are welcome.

Pitted Windshields Reported in Illinois

LINCOLN, Ill. (AP) — The first reports of pitted and pitted windshields have been made in Illinois following news of Washington's Puget Sound windshield breakups.

At least five Lincoln motorists Friday reported pit marks on their windshields to police. They said the marks looked like a chemical reaction and when rubbed became little pits in the glass.

All the motorists said their cars sat in the rain Thursday night.

Mild Easter Weather for Most of Nation

One Person Dead, Seven Hurt by Tornadoes in South

By United Press

A Southern storm raced seaward and skies cleared over Texas floodlands today to make way for mild Easter weekend weather in most of the nation.

The violent squall line which raked five Southern states and spawned seven tornadoes Friday was poised on the extreme East Coast early today and forecasters expected it to move seaward.

The storms wrecked a fishing vessel, contributed to one death and at least seven injuries, and left a trail of wreckage across Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi and Tennessee.

The Coast Guard planned an ocean search today for another fishing vessel, the "Bebeco," which was missing along the Gulf Coast with 24 men aboard. It was hoped the ship had taken refuge in a river or rode out the heavy seas at anchor.

Cool in Midwest

Only high clouds scudded over the sodden lower Rio Grande Valley in Texas, but standing pools and lakes of stagnant water left by torrential rains threatened to spread disease.

Hidalgo county, much of it covered by water, was declared an emergency area and compulsory typhoid fever inoculations were ordered in some areas.

The weather wasn't clearing up for Easter on the Pacific Coast, where dense fog spread from central California to San Diego. It combined with heat wave temperatures to produce the threat of a sweltering holiday weekend.

Light rain and showers were widespread in the northern Appalachians eastward to the Atlantic Coast and over the lower Great Lakes and New England. It was cool in the Midwest and pleasantly mild in most of the rest of the nation.

French Airlift Strengthens Besieged Base

HANOI, Indochina (AP) — Volunteer infantrymen who had never jumped before parachuted into Dien Bien Phu today to reinforce the garrison against an expected mass Communist attack.

The first airdrop of its kind in French military history plummeted the daring footsloggers right into a blazing battle between Dien Bien Phu defenders and Communist "mole men" who grabbed a foothold on the garrison's main airstrip.

Communist-led rebel troops of Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap anticipated the arrival of reinforcements, also, Russian-made Molotov trucks were spotted by French pilots sneaking down a road toward the Red positions.

Never before had France plunged her soldiers into an actual battle on their first jump.

The volunteers — from French, North African and loyal Indochinese units — leaped from low-flying transports like veterans, French officers said. They received no more injuries than trained paratroopers who seized Dien Bien Phu last year.

Molotov trucks were moving southward with men and ammunition for the Communist besiegers.

See Assessors for Proper Property Description

Paul Hilliard, county treasurer, stated today that many inquiries have been made recently regarding changes of addresses and descriptions of property where it has been sold or transferred.

He stated that assessors are now in the field for the quadrennial real estate assessment and any one desiring that property be changed into their name or description changes should see their assessors at once.

Undivided property descriptions are the cause of many problems in the collection of taxes and he urged property owners to see their assessors and have proper description of the property they own placed on the books of the assessor in the owner's name to avoid future complications.

Mr. Hilliard has no authority to make changes of assessed values on the books of the assessors. This can only be done by the Assessor or the Board of Review.

SALINE COUNTY OIL REPORT: Wildcat Test Hits In Paint Creek Sand

By BOB SKEELS

The wildcat test on the west subs of Eldorado has hit oil in the Paint Creek sand, the first in Saline county. John Stelle and associates this week set casing on their No. 1 John J. Jones, NE NE SW, 20-8s-7e, after drilling to a total depth of 2883 through the Aux Vases sand. A drill stem test opposite the Paint Creek 2670-86 gassed to the surface in 45 minutes and recovered 100 feet of clean oil, 55 feet of mud mixed oil and no salt water with a bottom hole pressure of 1080 pounds per square inch. Casing has been cemented and cable tools should be moving in to complete any day now. The Palestine, Tar Springs, Hardinsburg, Cypress and Aux Vases sands all had slight shows of oil but not enough to be commercial.

The other two wildcat tests drilling in the county this past week were both dry and abandoned. E. H. Sherr Morris plugged his No. 1 Thornberry-Burns Guest Unit, SW NE SW, 16-8s-6e, one half mile west of Raleigh at a total depth of 3103 through the McClosky lime. No drill stem tests were run due to no shows of oil in any of the formations.

Coy Oil's No. 1 Otis Carter, NE SE SE, 29-7s-7e, was also a disappointing duster plugged and abandoned at a TD of 3147 through the McClosky lime. A drill stem test opposite the McClosky on this two mile wildcat located four miles due north of Eldorado and just east of Highway 142, recovered only 650 feet of "sad news" salt water.

The same operator's No. 1 Thomas Mahoney, one location to the northwest is still a location to be drilled. It is doubtful whether they will drill now that the Carter was dry.

In the Eldorado Pool, just north of the town, Carter Oil has completed its No. 2 Turner-Wilson Unit, NW SW SW for an initial production of 234 barrels of oil and 50 barrels of water pumped daily from the Cypress sand 2566-69 and 2588-86 and the Aux Vases sandy lime 2926-34 after fracturing.

Just south of this test, John Stelle and associates have completed their No. 1-A Roy Watson, 8-8s-7e, pumping oil at the rate of 350 barrels per day from highly saturated Aux Vases sand 2934-42 following a fracture job.

Ashland Oil and Refining got a dry hole, the first one in recent weeks in this very prolific new oil field, on their George Watson et al lease, in the northeast corner of 18-8s-7e, plugged and abandoned at 2953 through the St. Gen.

They have started drilling on the No. 3 Victor Suttner, one location north, and were digging today below 975 feet with Tom Doran's rotary.

Large Crowd Hears 'Seven Last Words' By HTHS Choir

A large crowd was present at the Methodist church last night for the presentation of "The Seven Last Words of Christ" by the Harrisburg Township high school choir, under the direction of John Schork.

Soloists for the occasion were Mrs. Larry Barnhill, Mrs. F. M. Sullivan and Bill Williams.

The introduction to "The Seven Last Words" was sung by Mrs. Barnhill.

The first word, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do," was by Mr. Williams, Mrs. Sullivan and the choir; the second word, "Verily, thou shall be in paradise today with me," by Mrs. Sullivan, Mr. Williams and choir; the third word, "Woman, behold thy son beloved," by the three soloists and choir; fourth word, "God, My Father, why hast thou forsaken me?" by Mr. Williams; fifth word, "I am thirsty," by Mr. Williams and choir; sixth word, "Father, into thy hands I commend my soul," Mrs. Sullivan and choir; and the seventh and last word, "It is finished," by the three soloists and choir.

The conclusion, "Christ, We Do All Adore Thee," was sung by the choir.

Mrs. Harold Parker played the accompaniment at the organ.

The choir will sing at the Kiwanis-sponsored Easter sunrise service at the Harrisburg Drive-In theatre beginning at 6 a. m. It will also sing at Carrier Mills Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

J. M. Reeder, 87, Of Ledford Dies; Funeral Sunday

James Marion Reeder, 87, better known as "Uncle Dick," a long time resident of Ledford, died yesterday at 1:45 p. m. at the Eldorado Nursing home where he had been since September.

His wife preceded him in death in 1930.

He is survived by four children, Mrs. Cecil (Muriel) Rice, Mrs. George (Emma) Bean, Mrs. Floyd (Nell) Hancock, and Delmar Reeder, all living on Harrisburg Road; a half brother, Francis Reeder, Eldorado; 36 grandchildren; 40 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

The funeral will be Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Ledford Baptist church. Rev. Olan Clarida and Rev. Leo Simmons will conduct the service, and burial will be in the Ledford cemetery.

The body is now at the Thornton funeral home in Carrier Mills where it will lie in state until funeral time.

Air Force Plans To Withdraw Units from Korea

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force plans to withdraw its combat units from Korea during the year starting July 1, it was disclosed today.

Testimony made public by a House appropriations subcommittee also contained a warning by Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, that Russia is switching plane production from B29 bombers to "more advanced long-range bomber types" able to hit the United States with A-bombs and H-bombs.

The Korea withdrawal plan, which could be used by Far East political developments, was tipped off in an obscure passage in almost 1,000 pages of congressional testimony on the proposed $11,200,000 Air Force budget for fiscal 1955. It was confirmed in more detail by Pentagon sources.

Maj. Gen. Kenneth B. Hobson, Air Force manpower director, said the Air Force "assumes that the Korean operation will phase out during the year, except for units required to recover and dispose of material."

He conceded that "this schedule may be difficult to achieve for political reasons." But Hobson said "any failure to reduce our strength in the Far East as planned will increase our 1955 requirements and upset the balance of the program."

It was learned the Air Force plans to return certain strategic air command units, now assigned to Far East air forces, to the United States. Tactical units would be re-deployed to pre-Korea stations in the Philippines and Japan, and possibly in some cases to the U. S. and Europe.

Mother of Carrier Mills Woman Dies

Mrs. Harry McAtee, Carrier Mills, received word of the death of her mother, Mrs. Sarah Poore, 73, Tucson, Ariz., who died Wednesday.

The body will be sent to Lenton, Ind., her former home, for the funeral which will be held at the Welch and Cornett funeral home Tuesday at 1:30 p. m.

See New GOP-Democratic Tax Fight in Senate

Sen. Long to Ask Excise Cuts If Higher Exemptions Rejected

By United Press

A new Democratic-Republican tax scrap may be shaping up in the Senate.

Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.) said he may propose further cuts in federal excise taxes if the Senate turns down a Democratic move to boost personal income tax exemptions by $200 this year and $400 in future years.

Long said his tentative proposal calls for complete repeal of manufacturers' excises on household appliances, radio and television sets and a reduction in the present rates on automobiles. He said this would be a way of providing consumer tax relief if the Senate does not approve the income tax exemption hike sponsored by Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.).

Reductions Now in Effect

Long, a member of the Senate Finance committee, said he might offer the excise tax cut as a substitute for a provision in the administration's tax reform bill granting tax relief on dividends from corporation stocks. The committee is now holding hearings on the House-passed bill.

A Senate Republican leader, who asked not to be identified, predicted the Senate would reject any attempt to tack excise tax cuts onto the general reform bill.

Congress recently voted — and President Eisenhower approved — a legislation trimming excises a billion dollars a year. The reductions were effective April 1. The Senate rejected an attempt to add a radio-TV and auto tax cut provision to that bill.

Other congressional news: Housing: Chairman Homer E. Capehart said the administration has promised to give his Senate Banking committee construction firms that reaped "windfall" profits from loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration.

Capehart's committee opens hearings Monday in its investigation of the multi-million dollar housing scandals.

McCarthy: Senate investigators are expected to settle two problems involving the role Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy will play in the inquiry into his feud with the Army in time for hearings to begin on schedule next Thursday. One problem is whether McCarthy (R-Wis.) should have the right to cross-examine witnesses; the other is whether an answer to the Army's formal charges will be filed in advance by McCarthy.

Competitive Exams

April 24 for U. I. Scholarships

Competitive examinations will be held Apr. 24 throughout the state for a half-dozen different University of Illinois scholarships to be awarded in each county. They will be held by each county superintendent of schools. R. Dale Wilson, Saline county superintendent of schools, announced the exams will be given in his office in the court house.

Candidates must live in the county in which they write the examination. They must notify the county superintendent in advance of intention to take the examinations, which will start at 9 a. m., continue to 11, resume at 1:30 p. m. and end at 4:30.

To be awarded are: County scholarship, one in each county except Cook, which has an additional 66 because of population. Open only to prospective high school graduates who have had no college work.

Agricultural scholarship, and home economics scholarship, one of each in each county. Candidates may have done college work in some institution other than the University. They must rank in the upper 50 per cent of high school class, and if they have had college work have an average 15 points above the passing grade.

Scholarship for a child of a veteran of World War I, another for a child of a veteran of World War II, and another for a child of a veteran who served since June 24, 1950. Open to persons with or without previous college work. Preference is given to children of veterans who are deceased or disabled.

Begin Canvass of Saline County Vote

Canvass of Tuesday's primary vote was slated to start at 9 a. m. today in the office of County Clerk Don B. Garrison. Canvassers were Justices of the Peace Ben Cundiff and Vern Joyner Jr., Garrison and Mary Dallas, deputy county clerk.

Nixon Identified As Administration Source for Proposal

PARIS (AP) — The "high administration source" who said the United States may have to send troops to Indochina was identified in two European capitals today as Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The "high administration source" said Friday in Washington that the United States might have to move its armed forces into Indochina if the French were to pull out.

The Times of London identified the source as Nixon. French officials and newspapers here also credited Nixon with raising the question of U. S. troop participation in the Southeast Asia conflict.

A French Foreign Ministry spokesman said Nixon made a "gratuitous supposition" in suggesting that France might quit the war in Indochina.

The promise of possible American intervention pleased many influential Frenchmen, opposed to the war who have been arguing for years that France should quit Indochina and let the United States finish the conflict if it wants to.

Reds Massacre 100 Aboard Derailed Train

PNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The Communists massacred more than 100 men, women and children aboard a train derailed by their saboteurs in the jungle near here this week, it was announced today.

A communique protesting the "barbaric atrocity" said some of the victims were "doused with gasoline and burned alive." Others were mowed down by hand grenades, tommy guns and rifles or hacked to death with jungle knives.

So far as was known, all the victims were Indochinese.

The train, on the way from Pnom Penh to Battambang, was derailed Monday between two rural stations some 50 miles northwest of here.

The blast derailed some coaches, and others piled up or overturned. The tangled pile of wreckage caught fire.

As survivors scrambled out of the burning coaches, some 500 Reds swarmed out of the jungle and attacked them with grenades and small arms, the communique said. "Frenzied passengers who survived the first attack — including old people, children and priests — were hacked with axes and knives. The wounded were drenched with gasoline and set afire, the official announcement said.

The government of this jungle kingdom called on "the conscience of the civilized world" for "justice and the solemn condemnation of these barbarous acts committed by Red rebels on the independent territory of Cambodia."

1,130 Veterans Of 45th Division Arrive in U. S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Some 1,130 veterans of the 45th Infantry division, the first to be withdrawn from Korea as a unit, arrived here today aboard the troopship Gen. J. H. McRae to a heroes' welcome.

The men, whose division is known as the "Thunderbird," will enjoy an Easter leave, returning to New York next Thursday for a ticker tape parade up lower Broadway and a reception at city hall attended by Mayor Robert F. Wagner and Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens.

The division saw a year and a half of combat in four 8th Army campaigns in Korea and is officially credited with never losing an inch of ground to the North Korean or Chinese Communists.

The unit originally was organized by the Oklahoma National Guard, but a majority of the returning men are residents of Eastern states.

Returning members of the contingent include the 45th's officers and all men who are scheduled for discharge. The remainder of the division, which numbered 18,000 to 20,000 men during the war, has been absorbed by other units stationed in the Orient.

After brief welcoming ceremonies at the Staten Island pier, the Thunderbirds went to Camp Kilmer, N. J., to receive their Easter leave passes.

The 45th first landed at Inchon in December, 1951, and relieved the 1st Cavalry Division in the Chonwon sector.

Official Warns U. S. May Take Over Front Lines

Statement by Administration Source Seen as Trial Balloon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Key senators spoke out today against the suggestion by a high administration source that U. S. troops may have to take over the battle lines in Indochina if the French pull out.

Two influential Republicans — Sens. Leverett Saltonstall (Mass.) and Bourke B. Hickenlooper (Iowa) — said flatly they are opposed to such a policy, at least for the present.

Several senators said the administration should take a firm stand for complete independence for Indochina before raising the possibility that American soldiers would have to be thrown into the seven-year-old war.

France has promised independence to the Indochina states of Cambodia, Vietnam and Laos, but within the framework of the French Union.

Would Support Decision

The official, who is privy to the administration's innermost secrets emphasized that he did not think the French would quit their long fight against the Communist-led rebels. And he said he thinks the Red menace in Asia can be stopped without the use of American troops.

But he said if American forces are needed to avoid Communist domination of Southeast Asia, the Eisenhower administration would have to make that politically unpopular decision. He said he would support such a decision.

There has been much private discussion within administration circles about the possibility that U. S. troops would have to be thrown into the gap if the French forces withdrew. But the official's statement Friday was the first time it has been put officially before the public.

Some senators were openly critical of the way the possibility of direct U. S. intervention in Indochina was broached — by a high official who refused use of his name. But it was regarded as a significant trial balloon.

Saltonstall, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said "from the information that has been given me thus far, my opinion is that we should not send men into Indochina."

He would not say, however, whether his view would change if the French pulled out.

Hickenlooper, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said "I have no knowledge that this is United States policy. So far as I'm concerned, I have no reason to think to favor such a policy."

Hickenlooper said he has "constantly been against the use of troops in Indochina and have had no reason to change my mind."

Stress Need of Assurance

Democrats were generally critical. Some have warned that the nation is drifting toward war in Indochina.

But Sen. Lester C. Hunt (D-Wyo.) a member of the armed services committee, said because of President Eisenhower's military experience, he "would be willing to follow him" if the administration decides such a move is necessary.

Whatever the President thought we had to do, I'd go along," Hunt said.

Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt.), John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), and Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) stressed the need for assurances that the United States backs complete independence for the three Indochinese states.

Uncle of Mrs. G. B. Wiley Dies at Benton

Harry Webster, 57, uncle of Mrs. G. B. Wiley, Harrisburg, died Wednesday afternoon in the Moore hospital at Benton as a result of a heart attack. He was a well known resident of Benton and Christian minister.

The funeral was today at 2 p. m. at the First Christian church in Christopher. The pastor, Dr. Marion Frank, officiated, and burial was in the Masonic cemetery at Benton.

Cadillac

Starting the Day with an Hour's Rest!

It's about an hour from his home to his office—but he doesn't think of it as a drive at all.

He just settles back in the deep, comfortable seat—rests his hand on the inviting wheel—looks out over the hood in the general direction of the office—and starts to relax.

Comes first, the ten-mile stretch in the country.

If the car were standing still, it could not be smoother or softer or quieter—as it loafs over the broad, winding highway. There's only the faint sound of the wind, plus the receding trees and posts and buildings, to give him a sense of movement.

Almost before it begins, it seems, the ten-mile stretch is over—and a sign announces the city's limits. The soft pressure of his foot shifts from accelerator to brake—and the big car settles down easily, smoothly and quickly to the prescribed speed.

And then begins the real wizardry of Cadillac performance. Stop and go—in and out—roll and creep... all regulated with the slightest touch of toe and hand. Insofar as the driver is concerned, it's just as easy as the open road—a little slower, of course, but just as calm and relaxing.

And maybe a little bit nicer, in one notable respect—for now there are drivers all about him—stealing glances at his beautiful car, and wondering who's the fortunate person whose name is on the title!

What a car—for highway or street! Owners say the hours behind its wheel are among the finest hours of the day—restful, relaxing and inspiring.

If you haven't as yet driven a 1954 Cadillac—you've been missing something wonderful! Better come in soon—for the most revealing hour you ever spent behind the wheel of a motor car.

DREW PEARSON Says: Oppenheimer Advised That A Bomb Would End Pacific War; Viet Nam Ambassador Says Indo-China Doesn't Need U. S. Troops; Republicans Duck Increased Congressional Salaries.

WASHINGTON.—If the loyalty committee now probing J. Robert Oppenheimer probes deeply enough it will find that if the admirals and generals had followed his advice in 1944, Russia would not now hold the Kurile Islands, one-half of Sakhalin, and the southern end of the Manchurian peninsula.

Buried in the secret files of the Joint Chiefs of Staff are the debates between generals and admirals showing why they admitted Russia as a war partner in Asia; and also why they were willing to give her important territorial concessions in return for Red Army participation.

The reason was that the U. S. military did not have confidence in the atomic bomb. They also figured it would take months, if not a year to subdue the Japanese military, so they wanted the Red Army to be harassing Japan from the rear.

In vigorous disagreement was Robert Oppenheimer, now charged with having Communist ties. The new atomic weapon, he told his superiors, would end the war. Once the bomb was dropped, he argued, the war would be over. Neither Russian participation nor the force of the U. S. Army and Navy would be needed.

But Adm. William Leahy, Gen. George Marshall, and Gen. Leslie Groves wouldn't believe him. So the United States proceeded to hand Russia important territory in Asia to get the Red Army's help. One week after Hiroshima and Nagasaki, however, the Emperor of Japan asked for peace. Oppenheimer was right. History might have been different had his advice been followed.

VIET NAM AMBASSADOR
Washington has become a city where diplomats have become so numerous it takes a special directory to tabulate them. The bigger embassies, such as the British, French, Brazilian, Mexican, have several hundred attaches, secretaries, translators, chauffeurs.

With so large a diplomatic population, the smaller embassies sometimes don't even get mentioned in Washington's generous and all-embracing social columns where dowagers like to advertise the fact that they had this ambassador sit on their right and that ambassador on their left.

Obscure but all-important to the free world, however, is a modest embassy whose people are fighting with their backs to the wall in Indo-China. In it Ambassador Tran Van Kha, representing the people of Viet Nam, wages a diplomatic struggle to keep his country and the other two nations of Indo-China from going Communist.

Back in 1943, Mr. Kha was jailed by the Viet Minh, the Communist revolutionaries who sprang up during the Japanese occupation. Finally, when the British disarmed the Japanese, he escaped, since then has been minister of national economy and vice-president of the French Union Assembly.

The ambassador says American supplies and technicians are all-important to the Indo-Chinese war, but that American mass manpower would not be so important.

"Viet Nam will have a half million men of her own by next year as a result of the new conscription plan," explains the ambassador.

Asked whether Red China would intervene with a Chinese army if the United States intervened, the ambassador frankly admitted that there was a grave possibility.

"Will all of Southeast Asia go Communist if Indo-China falls?" I asked.

"I think so," replied the man who has a lot to lose if that happens.

MERRY-GO-ROUND
The FBI is working with Scotland Yard to track down the author of threats against Queen Elizabeth. The letter to the Queen was mailed in England and was written in red ink. A similar threatening letter—also mailed in England and written in red ink—was recently received in Washington by Director of Archives Wayne Grover.

Cost of Secret Service protection for President, his family and the vice president is $668,000 a year. Despite the alertness of the Customs Bureau, illegal diamonds are still being smuggled into the U. S. A. by crew members of commercial trans-Atlantic planes. A Sabena pilot was caught recently with $233,000 worth of illegal diamonds, carried in a false bottom of his traveling bag.

Last year Customs agents seized 3,837 ounces of raw opium—eight times the amount seized the previous year. Ex-Senator Brewster of Maine has hired Edward Bennett Williams to bring suit against a national magazine.

The largest denomination of regular currency printed by the U. S. government is the $10,000 bill. There are only 770 of them in circulation. It costs the government about $500,000 each year just to destroy worn-out paper money.

Government agents have discovered some of the missing $20 bills stolen from the Bureau of Printing and Engraving last December. They were caught in a filter screen in the Washington sewerage system.

The Treasury Department suspects that some well-heeled taxpayers deliberately overpay their taxes, in order to benefit from the 6 per cent interest the government pays on overpayments. Each year the government has to pay out more than $74,000,000 in interest on overpayments.

Fifty-nine out of every 100 federal tax returns contain an error. The errors average $95 in taxes.

JUDGES' SALARIES
The Republican leadership of Congress is now drifting away from Eisenhower's idea of boosting judicial and congressional salaries.

latter are usually better heeled, have private incomes to fall back on.

Result of all this is that many good men come to Washington, stay a few years, then drop out of Congress. They simply cannot afford to stand the expense.

Meanwhile federal judges are among the poorest paid public servants in the nation. Not long ago, Judge Si Irtikand, one of the ablest judges in New York, resigned from the U. S. District Court for the very simple reason that he couldn't make both ends meet. A lot of others will have to follow suit unless judicial salaries are increased.

Revised Summary Shows 142,175 U. S. Casualties in Korea

WASHINGTON.—A revised summary showed today that the American armed forces suffered 142,175 casualties in the Korean War.

The new, but still not final, summary showed an increase of 57 casualties over the last previous report issued in January. As of March 31, the Army's total casualties were 110,076; the Navy's 2,080; the Marine Corps 28,172, and the Air Forces 1,847.

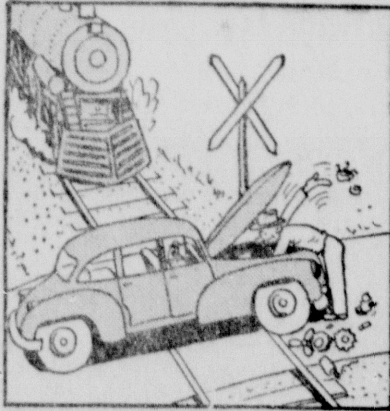

Of the total casualties, 33,237 were deaths, 103,376 wounded, and 410 missing.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By
CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

This is a good time for that annual spring checkup of your car's mechanical condition. The open road will be calling soon. You will probably be taking weekend trips or going on your vacation, and your car will be subjected to longer and faster driving than it has had for the last few months.

Make sure it is in the best possible mechanical condition before you start traveling at highway speeds and for long distances. Your skill as a driver could be completely useless to you if, for instance, the steering mechanism should fail at 50 or 60 miles an hour.

Avoid finding yourself in a situation like that by having the brakes, steering and wheels checked and any defects corrected beforehand. And be sure your tires are in good condition. The brakes stop the wheels, but it is the tires which stop the car.

A copy of the completely new "Rules of the Road" booklet will be sent to you free upon request. Write to CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State, Springfield, Illinois.

Molotov Truck Convoys Reinforce Indochina Reds

HANOI, Indochina (UP) — Hundreds of Russian-built Molotov trucks moved southward today in bumper-to-bumper convoys with men and ammunition for Communist besiegers of Dien Bien Phu.

French pilots flying north on bombing missions said the supply roads were crawling with vehicles. Highway 41, which extends from Red China's borders, was the busiest, the pilot said.

Military authorities believed Communist Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap was stripping his bases north of the Red River delta of every man available for an onslaught against the fortress, perhaps on Easter Sunday.

Chaplain at Dien Bien Phu, aware of the possibility of a sudden "human sea" assault on the garrison, went ahead with plans to hold Easter services in one of the battered dugouts used as a chapel.

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow wrote "There was a little girl and she had a little curl right in the middle of her forehead."

VFW AUXILIARY OFFICERS INSTALLED—Mrs. Earl Hancock was installed as president of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary Thursday evening in an impressive ceremony held in the lower room of the Masonic temple. For the occasion the room was beautifully decorated with large bouquets of daffodils, tulips, yellow and white snapdragons, irises and spirea. The service opened with the color team of Eldorado marching in and placing American flags in their appropriate places. Mrs. Bernice Wolfe then led in prayer before an altar covered with an American flag on which the Bible was placed. Mrs. Pearl Brown, Eldorado, escorted each officer to be installed before the altar, and the installing officer, Mrs. Ann Stout, then gave the officers their charge of office.

Radioactive Rain Feared Threat to Japanese Crops

TOKYO (UP) — A Japanese scientist gave some of his countrymen a new case of the atomic jitters today with a report on radioactive rain.

Prof. Yasushi Nishiwaki of the Osaka Municipal Medical College said "hot" showers had fallen on Osaka and Nigata.

Nishiwaki expressed fear that if contaminated rain continued to fall it would endanger Japanese crops and livestock.

Dr. Kenjiro Kimura, Tokyo University physicist, and other Japanese scientists showed little interest in Nishiwaki's report.

Kimura said the Japanese had no reason to fear rainfall. He said he believed some "hot dust" which fell near Nagoya last month and caused some anxiety was "not from a man-made explosion" in the Marshall Islands testing grounds but from naturally radioactive elements in the dust.

Osaka officials said they would inspect all vegetable markets with Geiger counters to determine whether any of the produce was dangerously radioactive.

The addition of certain chemicals and metals to automobile oil will greatly extend its life. To the motorist, this means that he may not have to change oil every 1000 miles, but may be able to use the same oil for nearly 7000 miles.

Methodist Busy Women's Bible Class Elects New Officers
The Busy Women's Bible class of the First Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. Anna Williams on Locust street Tuesday evening for the class social.

The meeting was opened with the group singing two songs, "Amazing Grace" and "Christ Arose." The music was furnished by Mrs. E. L. Nerman.

Mrs. Robert Melven, teacher of the class, offered prayer, and Mrs. Robert Conover, president, conducted the business meeting which included the report of the nominating committee by the committee chairman, Mrs. O. E. Barter.

Officers nominated for the new year were Mrs. Clyde Harding, president; Mrs. Joe Gidcomb, vice president; Mrs. Robert Hunter, secretary and Mrs. Mae Thomas, treasurer. These officers will be installed at the May social.

A memorial day for the deceased members will also be held in May.

The meeting was turned over to the program chairman, Mrs. Williams, who asked Mrs. C. M. Jones to give her devotion. She took her scripture from the 12th and 13th chapters of Hosea and used as her theme, "Prophecy." At the close she conducted an old fashioned class meeting in an old fashioned way.

Mrs. Edith Sheeley, Mrs. Frank McDonald, Mrs. Jacob Syers, Mrs. Oscar Vanbiber and Mrs. Mary Miller assisted Mrs. Williams in serving ice cream sodas and cookies to 24 members and one guest, Mrs. Ada Reese.

Michael Hillegas Chapter
D. A. R. Installs Officers
Monday evening, April 12, the Michael Hillegas chapter of the Daughters of American Revolution met at the home of Mrs. Roy L. Seight with Mrs. R. E. Cline, Mrs. Hal Burnett and Mrs. Joe Wisehart, Shawneetown, assistant hostesses.

Mrs. N. A. Herrmann led in the "Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag" and directed the singing of the national anthem, "The Star Spangled Banner." The minutes of the last meeting were read, and Mrs. D. A. Lehman gave a report on the state conference held recently and told of the chapter's scrapbook, made by the historian, Mrs. Frank Gary, rating an honorable mention at the state convention.

The devotion was given by Mrs. Jesse F. Stunson who read the first eight verses of the 24th chapter of St. Luke.

The following new officers were elected and installed by Mrs. Burnett: Mrs. Victor Humm, vice regent; Mrs. D. E. Cavender, chaplain; Mrs. Lee Parker, historian; Mrs. Harley Shepherd, treasurer; Mrs. Tom Wolf, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. D. A. Lehman, registrar.

Lovely refreshments were served following the program.

Mrs. John Van Trease Guest
Speaker at Evergreen Club
Mrs. Carl Rude was hostess to the Evergreen Garden club Tuesday afternoon, April 13.

Roll call was answered by showing an outstanding daffodil, and Mrs. Bruce Polk opened the meeting by reading "Making a Garden."

Plans were made to attend the flower show school at Carbondale May 3, 4 and 5.

Mrs. John Van Trease, Eldorado, an accredited flower show judge, was present to give a most interesting talk on "The Beauty of Color," demonstrating by making beautiful arrangements. She gave many helpful hints on arrangements for flower show competition.

Mrs. Rude, assisted by Mrs. Kenneth Capel, served Cokes and trays of small cakes decorated with a chocolate Easter bunny in the center and colored Easter eggs.

The next meeting of the Garden club will be the annual Spring tour May 11 and 12.

New life - new hope - at Easter time!

All about us now we see the miracle of Spring . . In flowers bursting gaily from the ground. In birds returned to sing for us again. In friendly human faces that reflect our own good will.

Call it coincidence, if you like, that Easter comes with Spring. What better time for starting life anew? What better Day to reaffirm our faith!

The assessment multiplier for this collection year was 5.5556. This means when property was assessed on the basis followed for many years, this amount was multiplied by 5.5556 to bring the assessed valuation in line with other property in the state. For instance, if you have property assessed at $1,000, your taxes were figured on $5,555.60 to bring it within the assessment requirements of fair cash value.

Schedule of 1953 Tax Rates, Payable in 1954

Herewith is a list of tax rates for various taxing bodies of the county. To determine your rate, take the total county rate of $0.53, add the rates across the line for the township in which you live, and add your school district rate.

Note that these rates are figured by decimals, for instance the Harrisburg town rate of .073, or seven and three-tenths cents per $100 valuation.

Schedule of 1953 Tax Rates, Payable in 1954

[illegible]

All rates are based on each $100 assessed Valuation.
All drainage tax rates are in addition to this list.
High school districts designated "X" are areas petitioned into districts without assuming proportionate part of bonded indebtedness.

FOREST EXPERIMENT—Edgar Shewmaker, left, Herod, Ill., and Lawrence Rendleman, rural route, Elizabethtown, use a two-man gasoline motor-powered chain saw in felling a tree marked for cutting in the U. S. Kaskaskia Experimental Forest, Hardin County, Ill. The men, employed by the Carbonate Forest Research Center to which the experimental forest is attached, are handling the saw in a current co-operative study to find the most efficient method and tools for felling trees and cutting them into logs or other primary forest products. Some of the cutting is underway in an university forestry programs.

Use of Chemicals Revolutionizes Farm Production, Federal Reserve Bank Says

"The use of chemicals on the farm has culminated in an agricultural revolution of grand dimensions," the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis says today in an article appearing in its current monthly business review.

"To nourish United States crops, protect them from diseases, insects and weeds, and to improve production efficiency, farmers are expending annually about $1,200,000,000 on commercial fertilizers, $35,000,000 on lime, $300,000,000 on pesticides, and $10,000,000 on chemical defoliants.

"Some 7,000 airplanes and many thousands of earth bound machines are used to apply these chemicals. "Largely through increased use of chemicals, the potential growth in agricultural production is tremendous," the article observes. "It has been estimated by a cooperative committee from Land Grant colleges and the United States Department of Agriculture that, under certain assumptions, including a fairly ratio as favorable as that of 1951, farmers would increase total farm output about 20 per cent within five years. A 70 per cent increase in fertilizer application would play the major role in such a growth.

The use of farm chemicals has a special significance in the seven-state area served by the Reserve bank, the study reports, for agriculture is a major source of the area's income. And besides, its climate, soils, and crops are such that chemical requirements are high, especially in the growing of cotton.

(The bank's district includes all of Arkansas, most of Missouri, southern Illinois and Indiana, western Kentucky and Tennessee, and northern Mississippi.)

With full adoption of known improvement practices, the per acre yields of major district crops could be increased two to five times more than the twenty per cent estimated above, the article states. "The movement of people released from farm employment by the increasing use of chemicals and other changes in farm technology will be at the same time a problem and an opportunity. The problem will be to ease the transfer of these people to other occupations with a minimum of unemployment and under-employment. Opportunity will lie in expanding district industrial employment with the aid of these new hands. The ability to supply labor for industrial expansion when and where needed is one of the important locational advantages of the district.

"In addition to increasing the supply of labor for general industrial growth, the agricultural chemical revolution will have a special impact on district chemical manufacturing. A direct impact will be an expansion of farm chemical manufacturing to supply the expanding farm market. An indirect impact will be the growth of other chemical plants which can supply the agricultural chemical plants or use some of their products.

"The farm market for chemicals is capable of great growth. Between 1940-44 and 1950 the farm use of nitrogen in district states quadrupled, phosphorus use doubled, and the consumption of potash increased roughly three and one-half times. Since application of these chemicals is still well below the optimum, it is safe to assume that their use should increase sharply in the future. The attraction of such a market is obvious.

"Expansion of the markets for other farm chemicals may be expected, too. For example, defoliant chemicals were applied to from 10 to 15 per cent of the 1953 cotton acreage. Assuming an application of 25 pounds per acre, there is a potential market for over 100 million pounds of chemical defoliants for cotton in district states, to say nothing of the potential market provided by about 8,000,000 soybean acres.

"Production and use of farm chemicals help to knit together the agricultural and industrial sectors of our district economy. Continuation of the agricultural chemical revolution will further increase efficiency and productivity in agriculture, and industrial development will be facilitated by the growth in the market for agricultural chemicals as well as by the freeing of resources from farms. Both these avenues of progress will contribute to the growth and welfare of the Eighth District and of the nation."

Herman and Mary Tucker Elected to Angus Ass'n

Herman and Mary Tucker, Harrisburg, have been elected to membership in the American Aberdeen Angus Breeders' association at Chicago, Secretary Frank Richards has announced.

Herman and Mary Tucker were one of the 24 purebred Aberdeen Angus breeders from Illinois elected to membership during the past month.

HOPPER FOR ELEVATOR

Here's another use for an old 50-gallon oil barrel — or half of one. You can make a homemade grain hopper for an auger-type elevator by cutting an oil drum in half lengthwise, suggests Capper's Farmer. Placed under the lower end of the elevator, the "half barrel" saves a clean-up when used as a hopper for small grain.

Try Forage Sorghums on Extra Acres

Why not plant sorghum on those extra acres if you plan to stay within corn allotments? You'll probably get a crop that has about the same feed value as corn.

W. A. Scott, crop production specialist at the University of Illinois, says sorghums rate high in feed value. Moreover, they resist drought and some varieties are tolerant to chinch bugs.

Use the same cultural and fertility practices on sorghum that you use on corn. But wait until the soil warms up before planting it, Scott cautions.

Kafir types are tolerant to chinch bugs, but they can't be harvested with a combine.

Forage varieties Scott recommends include Atlas for southern Illinois counties, Axtill for central areas and Ellis for northern sections.

Grain varieties present harvest-

Keep Children Away From Livestock

Farm animals will fight to protect their young. Yet many children are injured each year because humans fail to guard youngsters from injury by cross livestock.

Farm Adviser L. B. Kimmel says spring is a particularly good time to resolve to keep children out of the barnyard or livestock pens. It's a good idea all year long but, with new farm offspring appearing regularly, the danger is increased at this season.

Usually the youngster means no harm. He just wants to see or pet a new lamb, pig, or calf. But the mother doesn't know this and is likely to injure the child in protecting her own young.

So don't blame the livestock. Mr. Kimmel says. It's up to you to help satisfy your child's natural curiosity about young animals by letting him pet one outside the pen. Tell him that's the only safe way to get acquainted and see that the rule is enforced.

ing and storing difficulties for Illinois farmers, Scott explains.

If you do want to try raising grain types, the kafir varieties Scott suggests are Pink Standard for southern Illinois, Standard Black Hull for central and southern areas and Western Black Hull for central counties.

You can easily harvest milo types of grain sorghums with a combine. These types are not resistant to chinch bugs.

Milo varieties Scott suggests include Westland and Wheatland for downstate areas, Martin and Midland for central sections and Reliance and Early Hegari for northern counties.

Plant forage varieties at the rate of about 5 to 8 pounds of seed per acre. For grain types cut the rate to 3 to 5 pounds per acre.

Treat the seed with Ceresan M or Panogen to protect against seedling diseases.

Grain sorghums will yield about 50 to 80 bushels of grain per acre. Forage types will probably produce more tons of silage per acre than corn.

If you want to plant sorghums, you'll probably have to order seed from some of the western states. There are many suppliers of seed in Illinois, Scott says.

SIU Country Column

Weeds in soybeans may be held down by plowing and disking the field as early as possible and then dragging the area fast and shallow (no deeper than the depth of bean planting) with a spiketooth harrow every week or 10 days until planting time. Drag again between planting and the time the beans emerge, and once more when the bean plants are about three-fourths inch tall.

Strawberry planting time is here — in fact it should be well advanced by this time. In setting out the plants remember the crown is the trunk of the plant. The lower end of the crown should be set in the ground but the upper end should not be covered if the plant is to thrive. To do this requires some care in setting.

Between April 20 and 30 is a good time to plant snap beans, cucumbers, okra, tomatoes, squash, and sweet corn (usually). By then and the days become warmer for the growth benefit of these "warm weather" vegetables.

The grass season is arriving and livestock is getting a taste of fresh succulent vegetation. Don't turn cows on the whole pasture at once. Cut off small enough areas with a temporary wire or electric fence so that the grass will be grazed down in about a week and then move the animals to a new area, allowing the grazed area to recuperate. Keep some good hay where the cows may get it even when they are on good pasture because they like some dry feed with their pasture grass.

Old fescue meadows may be rendered more palatable by fertilizing with nitrogen, by grazing in small paddocks rapidly and closely in rotation, and by clipping and removing the ripe, coarse growth as soon as the livestock has moved to another paddock.

Earthworms are found in limed fertile soils. Besides being good for fishing bait they benefit soils by improving the soil structure, mixing the soil layers, increasing the intake of water and air through the many worm tunnels, and changing raw organic matter into humus.

A high percentage of the earthworms die from freezing each year in soils that are not covered with vegetation. To reduce the loss of earthworms each winter keep some vegetative cover on the surface of the soil.

The growth of lawn grasses under trees may be given a boost and kept more vigorous by boring one-inch holes 12 inches deep, at 12-inch intervals in the soil. Put a tablespoon of low analysis fertilizer in each hole and water immediately. Keep the holes open and soak the shady area once weekly if rainfall is not sufficient to keep the area moist.

In forestry management it should be remembered that the greatest tree volume increase often occurs in the middle or late life of a tree because the layer of wood is laid down on a larger diameter in each year's growth. However, for sawlog production sound trees of desirable species ordinarily will not continue to contribute their full share to the forest if they are larger than 20 to 24 inches in diameter at breast height.

DOESN'T AFFECT SOIL "BUGS"

Aldrin and dieldrin pack a potent punch when it comes to killing troublesome soil insects. But they also kill beneficial soil bacteria which are vital to fertility and the breakdown of organic matter. "To the contrary," say scientists at the University of Wisconsin. After exhaustive tests it appears these insecticides will not slow down activity of helpful soil organisms. —Capper's Farmer.

EXTRA $256 AN ACRE

Here's proof soil testing is just as important on vegetable crops as on field crops. Clyde Cunningham, University of Missouri horticulturist, says a Missouri farmer increased cucumber yields 8,000 pounds an acre by fertilizing according to soil test. With cucumbers at $3.20 a hundred, the extra yield from proper fertilization made a difference of $256 per acre. —Capper's Farmer.

"Don't let my husband frighten you—he's sure to wake up with a jump when the soprano starts hitting high notes!"

Must Comply With Allotments To Get Supports

Farmers must be in compliance with corn acreage allotments in order to be eligible for price support on the 1954 corn crop, according to an announcement issued by Edgar V. Thompson, manager of the local ASC office.

This corn price support rate for 1954 should at least equal the $1.65 loan rate for the county in 1953. "It might even be higher," said Mr. Thompson, "because the national average support rate has been definitely set at a minimum of $1.62 as compared to $1.60 per bushel for the past year's crop. If parity goes up by October, even this rate could be slightly increased."

Only by complying with corn allotments can producers be assured of this price protection. Many farmers will determine their action by answering the question, "Should I reduce my acreage and be assured of a price, or should I plant all the acres I want and run my own risk as to price?" Others will consider the matter from an over-all program standpoint, recognizing that allotments are part of the entire farm program set-up—that they provide a way for each farmer to make some reduction in a crop for which large or excessive supplies on hand—or market prices should be bolstered and support programs made more effective. This will even be true of some livestock men, because some of them believe that cheap grain soon leads to cheap livestock.

Whatever the decision of our farmers may be, continued Mr. Thompson, "we want them to know the rules of eligibility in connection with allotments. For each known corn producing farm an allotment has already been established and notices thereof have been sent to all interested parties. Any farmer who complies with the corn acreage allotment on every farm in which he has an interest in the crop will be eligible for a loan or purchase agreement on all or any part of his 1954 corn crop. This is the basic rule to remember.

"The rule becomes more complicated, however, where a farmer with several farms doesn't comply with the allotment on one or more of his farms. In this case, if the producer's share of the underplanted corn acreage on all farms in which he has an interest in the corn crop equals or exceeds his share in the overplanted corn acreage on all such farms, he will be eligible for price support but only on the farms on which the 1954 corn acreage allotment is not exceeded. If, on the other hand, the producer's share of the overplanted corn acreage on all his farms

BRONCHITIS RUINS HENS
If infectious bronchitis hits your laying flock, it might be best to sell hens for meat when they're well enough. Many such flocks never again produce profitably, states Capper's Farmer. The egg tract is damaged by this disease. Hens may lay soft-shelled eggs with watery whites, and production may not rise above half what it was before the attack.

COWS PAY FOR COMFORT

Cows are more comfortable and pay off with more milk when they have spacious "working quarters." At the West Virginia College of Agriculture, eight of nine Holsteins in large comfort-type stalls paid for the extra room with from 12 to 37 pounds more milk each week. The comfort stalls were 49 inches by 84 inches, relates Capper's Farmer. Given plenty of room, the cows also received fewer injuries.

This year—because of acreage restrictions—RESULTS will count most. Every acre MUST produce MORE. The BEST GUIDE in choosing your seed, is to plant the Corn that is PERFORMANCE PROVED.
Last year, in DeKalb's Selected 5-Acre Corn Growing Contest, 5038 farmers averaged 101.16 bushels of DEKALB per acre. In 15 years of the Contest, 52,306 farmers have averaged 99.04 bushels per acre. These yields were made right on the farmers' own land—under many different soils and weather. They offer conclusive evidence of DEKALB's yielding ability—its outstanding adaptability—its year in and year out Dependability.
This Spring—every Spring—make sure of the seed you plant. Plant DEKALB.

Columbia Limestone for Better Legumes

Legumes such as alfalfa and clovers are heavy users of Calcium. Grain crops use both Calcium and Magnesium. An average grain crop will use from 5 to 10 pounds of Magnesium per acre, therefore a 2 ton application of COLUMBIA LIMESTONE will furnish enough Magnesium to last from 10 to 15 years. Here's the record of the amounts of magnesium removed in the produce of an acre of good crops. Let this be your guide.

Crop	Acre Magnesium Yield	Crop	Acre Magnesium Yield
Alfalfa, hay	4 tons 50 lb.	Onions, bulbs	400 bu. 5 lb.
Cabbage, heads	10 tons 4 lb.	Potatoes, tubers	400 bu. 20 lb.
Corn, grain	100 bu. 10 lb.	Soybeans, grain	25 bu. 5 lb.
Corn, stover	2 1/2 tons 7 lb.	Timothy, hay	3 tons 10 lb.
Oats, grain	50 bu. 2 lb.	Wheat, grain	35 bu. 3 lb.

The Magnesium Carbonate content of Columbia Limestone is ample to meet the requirements of all crops in this area.

Hamey Named General Manager Of the Phillies

PHILADELPHIA — Everyone agreed today that the pennant-anxious Philadelphia Phillies chose the right place when they went to the New York Yankees front office and plucked H. Roy Hamey as general manager.

For the past three years, the astute Hamey has been assistant to Yankees' General Manager George Weiss, who has played an important role in the Bronx Bombers' record run of five straight world championships. The Phillies could be battling for the pennant next fall if Hamey brings some of that old Yankee magic to Philadelphia.

Bob Carpenter, Phillies president, regarded the acquisition of the 51-year-old Hamey Friday as a maneuver that will strengthen the club.

"In getting a man of Hamey's qualifications and caliber, I feel that we are making another stride in our annual objective of winning the pennant," Carpenter said.

Previously this year, the Phillies had purchased pitcher Murry Dickson from the Pittsburgh Pirates and infielder Bobby Morgan from the Brooklyn Dodgers to plug weak spots on the diamond.

Any possible changes in the Phillies roster will have to wait until Hamey, a shrewd judge of talent, can familiarize himself with the team.

"This thing came like a bolt out of the blue," Hamey said. "I'll have to get acquainted with the club. I just learned about this only 24 hours ago."

Hamey's 29-year baseball background includes a four-year term as general manager of the Pirates, where he developed such young stars of today as Frank Thomas and Vernon Law, and Danny O'Connell, now with Milwaukee.

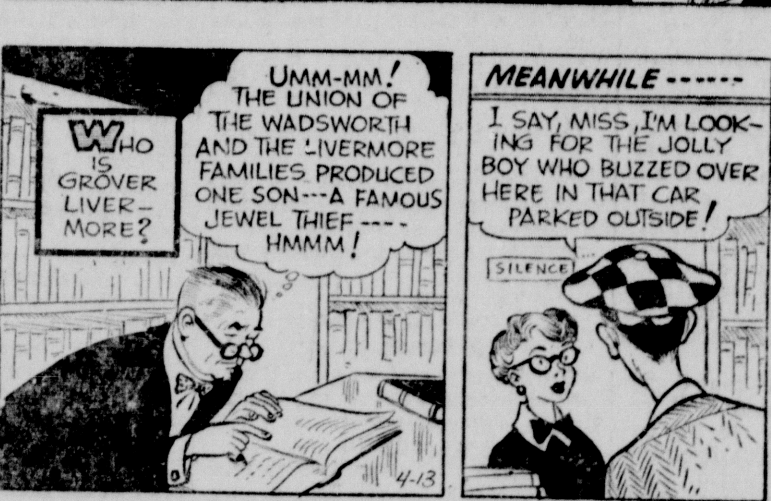

He served as president of the American Association in 1946 after business manager jobs with Birmingham and Kansas City, Yankee farm teams.

BIG LEAGUE ROOKIES . . . No. 9

Rookies Shine in Field and At Bat; Finest Group in Major Leagues Since War II

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

Maybe the kids will hit the skids but for a few days at least, they're moving right in like old time big leaguers.

That's the way it has been for this year's rookie crop, by far the best in the majors since the end of World War II. The youngsters are shining both in the field and at bat. The kid pitchers haven't had much chance yet since the veterans got the first assignments. But at least three and maybe four rookies will break in as starters Saturday.

The Yankees, who so far have bypassed such veteran starters as Johnny Sain, Harry Byrd and Alie Reynolds, entrusted kid right hander Bob Grim with the job of pitching against the Senators. He wasn't even on the Yankee roster until just before opening day. Other rookies who are scheduled to start Saturday are Corky Valentine of Cincinnati and Bob Trice of the Athletics. Lefty Tom Eganigan may get a chance to start for the White Sox after three straight defeats for Paul Richards' team.

Other Rookies
But aside from the pitchers, look what some of the other rookies have been doing.

The hottest hitter has been Spook Jacobs of the Athletics, who spent his first major league game on eight long years in the minors in opening day. Alex Grammas at

Nash Nine to Play Springerton Tigers Here Sunday

The Nash baseball club will meet the Springerton Tigers in a game Sunday at 2 p. m. on the town park diamond. The two clubs met once last year with the locals taking a 10-inning decision.

All Nash players are requested to meet at 12:30 p. m. for batting and fielding drills. Parker, Prather and Sisk will be on hand to pitch for Nash with D. Wilson or Joe Hull slated to catch.

The infield will be J. Nolen, Fulkerston, D. Kames and Harrison with Thompson, K. Nolen, Buchanan, Maszaros, Vinson, Horton and B. Barnes as outfielders and utility men.

The public is invited to witness the game.

Inhabitants of New Zealand have the longest life expectancy.

short has fielded well but hasn't done any hitting yet. The Pirates have been getting full work out of Curtis Roberts at second, who has had a hit in each of their three games, while Gair Allie at short has fielded well but has come up with only one hit. Bob Skinner has delivered two pinch singles for the Bucs.

It isn't often that a Dodger rookie gets a chance to do more than lead the cheering from the bench, but Sandy Amoros, the only one to break into the lineup even for a few minutes, contributed a pinch double in his only time up.

Amoros' Lofly Baiting Average Makes Dodgers Take Good Look

By BILL ROEDER
NEA Special Correspondent
NEW YORK—(NEA)—The Dodgers picked a peculiar way of revealing that Sandy Amoros has made the team.

Buzzy Bavasi, asked why he hadn't put in a bid for Enos Slaughter, stated his reasons and then casually added that he'd rather have Amoros anyway. Congratulations, kid. You're in.

All National League clubs had to waive on Slaughter before the Yankees could deal for him, but Bavasi said he was certain the Cards would have withdrawn waivers had the Dodgers shown interest.

"We couldn't have got him," he said. "Not only that, but we really weren't interested. Slaughter wouldn't be a regular with us, and we're not a club that can afford to sit $30,000 guys on the bench."

It was then that Bavasi made the remark that seemed to suggest that he, rather than Walt Alston, will decide who's going to stay with the Dodgers.

"Personally," the vice-president said, "I wouldn't take Slaughter ahead of Amoros, would you?"

Amoros is the Cuban rookie who hit .405 in spring training. But his outfielding proved as uncertain as his English, and day after day Alston made biting references to the senior's wobbly arm and jittery judgment.

It was assumed from these comments and others, even more to the point, that Amoros would be going back to the minors if the manager had anything to say about it.

Alston kept plugging Don Thompson, Dick Williams and George Shuba for the job of understudy Jackie Robinson.

But when Bavasi says he prefers Amoros to Slaughter, he doesn't have to add that he prefers Amoros to Thompson, Williams or Shuba. So no matter how Alston may feel, Sandy seems to be getting the nod.

It may be that this is Bavasi's thinking: If Billy Cox doesn't stand up, Robinson would move to third base. And Robinson himself may not stand up. Either way, there's a fair chance that a substitute left

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
The Christmas story is only a part of the full story that had its climax in the Resurrection, and the life and ministry of Jesus can be properly considered except in the light of the great triumph and fulfillment.

This is particularly true of the dark and tragic scenes in the life of Jesus. Not all the beauty of His words and acts, the gentleness of blessing children, the environment of fields and green pastures, could suppress the tragedy at Calvary if all had ended at the Cross.

That hour of darkness and suffering would have overshadowed all that had gone before. Not all the hope and happiness of former scenes and experiences could dispel the overwhelming gloom of the disciples as they saw their Master led away to be crucified.

Said one of them (Luke 24): "We trusted that it had been He, who should have redeemed Israel." For them a glorious dream had vanished.

Then came new faith, hope, power, vision—and enthusiasm—as the dream became a reality, and humble disciples were transformed into world leaders—going forth to preach the gospel to every creature (Mark 16:15), and making disciples of all nations (Matthew 28:19, 20).

It is in the light of what happened to those disciples that we must see the reality and power of the Resurrection.

There is a great need that Christians everywhere should find renewed faith and vision in the experience of those early disciples. We are living in a world upon which gloom, such as that which fell upon Calvary, in many ways still surrounds us.

The dreams and hopes of peace, the ongoing conquest of the world by the Master, have been shocked by wars and violence, by hatreds and by the spirit and actions of anti-Christ, as real as the hatreds and violence that sent Jesus to the Cross.

We, also, might turn in disillusionment and discouragement, as did the disciples. But we must go on to their experience of new-born faith and hope, and above all of ongoing life and works in devotion to the Christ and the fulfillment of the commission He has given to all who would follow Him.

It is the Living Christ of the Resurrection who must be our inspiration and our guide. It is the Living Christ of the Resurrection who must be the Light of the World in a world of so much darkness.
